

17:30 - 20:00 - FSDI 102 Session #1 Cohort 28

- With this property max-width:100%; the element will take the 100% of the container.
- Use the alt attribute to display an alternative text for the user in the case that the site has problems displaying the image.
- Use the normalize in a separate CSS document in your project (download it) <https://necolas.github.io/normalize.css/>.
- Git manage the versions of the project and GitHub make it available in the web, commit and push every functional version of your code so you can retrieve it if yuo have any problem.
- href (hyper reference, it is a link), but by default a link where you want to go you can use the ***#.
- In responsive design we have two option: mobile first and desktop first. The most popular is mobile first. Start designing the website for a mobile device.